School Rules

Maalot is a Shana Beis program and regards its students as mature and responsible. As such we have a minimum of rules. One issue is however non-negotiable and an absolute pre-condition for being part of our program.

Under no circumstances may students have electronic devices with internet or video capabilities (such as smartphones), even if equipped with filters. This applies both on and off campus, and even if left with relatives or friends. The only exception is laptops (which are often essential for schoolwork). All laptops must be fitted with either filter or surveillance systems chosen by the administration (at the student's expense). If you require equipment for listening to music or taking pictures, bring an MP3 or camera.

Failure to comply with this rule may lead to having the equipment impounded or possibly being asked to leave the program without a refund of fees.
